CHAMPAGNE AND SPARKLING WINE

Champagne is the most northerly of the great wine growing regions of France and its situation, together with the unique chalky soil in which the vines grow, combine to give the quality that makes champagne the world's supreme sparkling wine. No other drink has developed such a hedonistic image as champagne. Winners, lovers and revellers of all kinds have been drenching themselves in it throughout the last century.

Non - Vintage

Non vintage champagne are wines based around the current harvest, with reserve wines added to maintain individual House styles. The addition of reserve wines provides a certain level of complexity and degree of instant maturity. The Greatest 'prestige cuvee' can improve for as long as great vintage Champagnes.

Bin		Glass	Bottle
100	Perrier Jouet Grand Brut	£10.50	£50.00
102	Bollinger Spécial Cuvée Matured in wood and highly traditional, Bollinger offers crisp acidity, an intense Yeasty nose and a rich, full bodied palate with flavours reminiscent of caramel, Nectarines and pears	£26.00	£95.00
105	Louis Roederer Premier Brut	£17.00	£80.00
106	Krug Grande Cuvée Indisputably the most majestic multi-vintage cuvee, blended from 10 vintages and 47 wines from 25 villages. The palate is dominated by nuts with a graceful acidity and a long finish	£85.00	£235.00

Sparkling Wine

190	Saumur Brut Rosé, Domaine de la Paleine, France NV	£ 45.00
191	Prosecco, Borgo Col Alto, Italy NV	£ 34.00
192	2006 Ridgeview, Bloomsbury, England	£55.00

Rosé Champagne

Champagne rose is produced by either adding a little red wine to the white, or by allowing the macerated skins of black grapes to come in contact with the wine. Rose tend to have less acidity than white Champagnes, and are noted for their delicate, floral, fruity style.

Bin		Glass	Bottle
171	Laurent Perrier Rosé NV	£25.00	£98.00
173	Gallimard Rosé, Brut Rose NV		£65.00
174	Billecart Salmon Rosé, NV		£98.00
